

Arms Gallery

Wow, there's so many pieces of armor!
If you look carefully, however, you'll see that they are all different. Some are long and cover the legs. Others are short.
The long ones were for soldiers on horses...knights!

The short ones were for foot soldiers.

Without armor on their legs, they were able to move around.

Knights wore closed helmets that had little holes so they could breathe. Foot soldiers wore helmets that didn't cover their faces.

TURN >> OVER

Do you know what the knights used to protect themselves from the enemies' blows? There are lots in this room. I'll give you a hint...

Knights' armor protected them pretty well, but it was also very heavy. It was really important for them not to fall off their horses because, if they did, it was almost impossible for them to get up!

Knights' armor protected them pretty well, but it was also very heavy. It was really important for them not to fall off their horses because, if they did, it was almost impossible for them to get up!

Answer: shields