

Passage of the Labyrinth

On the table, there is a collection of strange things.
They are all antique, but many of them look like things that we still use, today. Can you recognize any of them?

We'll help you. There's a fork that fits perfectly inside a spoon;
a corkscrew together with a screwdriver, hammer and a little ax;
and a shoe horn.

Animals are hidden even in these things, and one of them is particularly mean and spits fire! Have you found it?

Answer: a dragon

TURN >> OVER

This room is called the “Passage of the Labyrinth,” and, in fact, if you look up, you’ll find a labyrinth represented on the ceiling!

